Migao Corporation
annual report
2008

Specialty fertilizers grow value for investors.

Migao Corporation produces specialty potash-based fertilizers for the high-value agricultural Chinese market.

2008 was an outstanding year for Migao. Strong growth in revenue, profitability and production capacity was complemented by growth in market demand and affluence in China. By the end of the year, Migao was the largest supplier of specialty fertilizers to the tobacco industry in China.

The annual report is a celebration of Migao's success. The cover boldly proclaims "Strong Market Growth" in the bright vibrant colours of fruits and vegetables boosted by Migao's fertilizers. Subsequent pages give us the opportunity to highlight the key metrics of a thriving company while expanding on the core benefits of Migao's product: specialty potash fertilizers make root systems strong, help to bring high-value produce to market, and increase yield with superior growth.
